1. Registration Regulations

1. Registration Regulations

According to CU's Announcement on Registration Regulation, 2023

- Course registration is considered complete only when the student has registered for course(s) and paid the tuition fee, late registration fine (if applicable), program fees, and other special fees (if applicable) as specified by the program. New students must have already completed the enrollment process in order to register.
- In the following cases, the registration is considered INCOMPLETE.
  - 1. Students who have registered but did not pay the tuition fee, late registration fine, program fees, and other special fees as specified by the program (if applicable).
  - 2. Students who did not register, but have paid the tuition fee, late registration fine, program fees, and other special fees as specified by the program (if applicable).
- After the first two weeks of the semester, students whose registration is incomplete will be dismissed. Any payment that have been paid earlier to the University or the Faculty will not be refunded.
- Dismissed students who wished to reinstate their student status to register or take leave of absence should follow No.8 of the University's announcement on Registration Regulation, 2023.

1. Registration Regulations

According to CU's Announcement on Registration Regulation, 2023

- Students who have registered and paid the tuition fee, but later submit the resignation request or leave of absence request BEFORE the start date of the semester or summer session are eligible to receive a refund of tuition fee, program fees, and other special fees, whichever is applicable, after their request of resignation or leave of absence is approved by the Dean. If the requests are submitted AFTER the start date of the semester or summer session, the students are NOT eligible to receive a refund for any payment that have been paid to the University or the Faculty.
- For summer session, if the student has already registered, but later drop or withdraw the course(s), the students are NOT eligible to receive a refund for any payment that have been paid to the University or the Faculty. Refund is allowed only if the request for refund has been submitted BEFORE the start date of summer session.
  - If registration for summer session has been completed, but no course has been successfully registered due to COURSE FULL or the course has been closed, the University is subjected to make a full refund of tuition fee, program fees, and other special fees (if applicable) to the student.
  - If registration for summer session has been completed and at least ONE course has been successfully registered, but it is later discovered that the registration of that course does not comply with the regulation and the student must drop or withdraw that course, in this case refund is not allowed.
- Students are obliged to check the correctness of their course registration information.
- Dropping or withdrawing any registered courses must be done within the specified timeline in the academic calendar. The University does not allow dropping and/or withdrawing courses AFTER the final examination date, or AFTER the last date of class in each semester or summer session, or AFTER the exam date as announced by the Faculty.

2. Registration Guidelines

2.1 Registration Guidelines – Before Registration

- Check the academic calendar and registration schedule for each semester to acknowledge the period for registration, late registration, tuition fee payment, and date and time for adding courses, dropping courses, changing sections, withdrawing courses, and requesting for graduation.
- Check class and exam schedules and follow the course conditions.
- Undergraduate Students see their advisors to retrieve the registration code.
  - Undergraduate students' registration must be in their advisors' agreement and comply with the requirements or conditions in the program. Failure to comply with the registration regulations may result in course dropping or withdrawal under the instruction of the Faculty.
  - When the semester starts, during the 1st, 3rd, and 7th week of each semester, it is recommended that the students consult their advisors about the registration.
- Graduate Students refer to Extra Guidelines for Graduate Students

2.2 Registration Guidelines – Registration

- Students should request for registration during the specified timeline to ensure that their seats are allocated before the semester starts.
- Students can check the successful or unsuccessful registration result in “Requested Registration Result” (CR74) during the specified dates in the registration schedule.
- Pay the tuition fee within the deadline or else the successfully registered courses in CR74 will be cancelled.
  - Even if all requested courses are not successfully registered, tuition fee must still be paid within the deadline, and you can add courses during the late registration period. If the tuition fee are paid during the late registration period, the student is also subjected to pay the late registration fine.
- Check the amount of total tuition fee payment, payment method, payment confirmation, and print the tuition fee receipt via CUNEX Mobile Application.
- Check the courses with remaining seats after registration and CR74 announcement on the website.
- ALWAYS CHECK YOUR REGISTRATION RESULT.

2.3 Extra Guidelines for Graduate Students

- Graduate students may register for thesis course in their first semester in the University. When the student has registered and completed all thesis course credits, but the thesis is not finished, the student must register for the thesis course with 0 (zero) credit and pay the full amount of tuition fee, including program fees (if applicable)*
- Graduate students who wished to register for 0 (zero) credit for the purpose of taking Comprehensive Examination or Qualifying Examination only are subjected to pay the tuition fee at the summer session rate (ref. to the University's Announcement on Tuition Fee Payment Rates 2019). If additional courses are registered later, they are subjected to pay full amount of tuition fee, or else the registration will be cancelled.
- Graduate students who registered undergraduate-level courses according to the Graduate School's Announcement should have those courses evaluated by S/U method only*. Registration in this condition must comply with their program's study plan.
- Graduate students who have to register for undergraduate-level or graduate-level courses for fundamental enhancement and those courses are evaluated by S/U method must also register the required course in their program for at least 3 credits, with the exception for those who have completed all required courses in the program or those who enrolled in the Thesis-plan.
- Doctorate students who have completed all doctoral seminar courses as required by the program but are still unable to graduate must register doctoral seminar course in every semester until graduation. *

 according to the University's Regulations on Graduate Studies 2018*

1. At www.reg.chula.ac.th, choose “Student” > “Forms” > “Forms to be Submitted to the Faculty’s Registrar Office” > “Request Form for Late Course Withdrawal for Undergraduate/Graduate Students (CR48)”
2. Print out and sign the request form.
   - Undergraduate Students: the instructor and the advisor must agree with the withdrawal
   - Graduate Students: the advisor must agree with the withdrawal
3. Pay late withdrawal fine (300 baht per course). Payment method will be announced in each semester.
4. Check the withdraw result at Registration Result (CR54). If the request was approved, the W symbol will appear on the course requested to be withdrawn.

Check CR54: “Personal Information” > “Registration Result (CR54)”

10. Examination

10.1 Guidelines for Exam Conflicts

▲ TOP

- Students should choose and drop the course that has duplicate exam dates with other courses.
- If the faculty need to change exam date and time, the schedule coordinator should contact the Office of the Registrar.

- If courses with exam conflict dates are still registered, students should choose and withdraw the course that has duplicate exam dates with other courses or request for exam sequestering.
- The faculty can no longer change exam date and time.

Student's personal exam schedule (CR69) will not show the course with exam conflict. Exams should be taken according to the information on CR69.

If any exam conflict is not solved, the Office of the Registrar will withdraw ALL courses with exam conflicts.*

* by the Regulations on Undergraduate Studies 2022 Article 45(7) and Regulations on Graduate Studies 2018 Article 91(7)

10.2 Request for Exam Sequestering

- If the examination schedules are changed by the Faculty after registration period resulting in conflicting examination schedules, students should submit a request for exam sequestering before the 7th week of the semester.

1. Submit General Request Form (CR41) to the Faculty's Registrar Office. The CR41 must be approved by the advisor and the Chairperson of the Examination Committee of the student's faculty and of the faculty offering the course. Reasons for requesting exam sequestering must be provided.
2. Contact the Office of the Registrar for request result.

12. Grade Appeal

12. Grade Appeal

1. In each semester, students can acknowledge their grade results from an e-mail that will be sent to their Chula's student e-mail address; by logging into the Office of the Registrar's website, or any other method within the specified time or within 3 working days after the Office of the Registrar has received additional grade results that were approved by the Dean.
2. Students are obliged to acknowledge and appeal the grade result within 30 working days after the announcement of the grade results as specified in the Academic Calendar or after the Dean has approved the grade results, whichever applies. After 30 working days, it is deemed that the students have agreed with the evaluation result and will not file an appeal.
3. If students do not agree with the grade result, they can submit grade appeal form to the Faculty's Registrar Office. The Faculty's Registrar Office should notify the Office of the Registrar regarding the grade appeal so that the announcement of that course's grade result will be temporarily on hold until the appeal process is completed.
4. If the students have requested for a transcript within 30 working days after the announcement of the grade results as specified in the Academic Calendar or after the Dean has approved the grade results, whichever applies, the students are obliged to check and confirm the validity of the grades shown on the transcript. If the grades are incorrect, students can submit the grade appeal form to modify the grade result within that time frame. If the students had received the transcript and did not file the grade appeal, it is deemed that the students have agreed with that evaluation result and will not file an appeal.

Note: In case of “F” symbol that was changed from “M” symbol, grade modification is not allowed if the student did not take an exam and cannot provide reasonable proof for missing an exam.

ALWAYS CHECK YOUR REGISTRATION RESULT

after late registration / course adding / course dropping / section change

(after seat allocation in each round according to each semester's registration schedule)

WHAT MAY HAPPEN IF YOU DID NOT CHECK YOUR REGISTRATION RESULT

- Unable to register for the preferred course
- Not eligible for exam despite class attendance (due to incomplete course adding or course registration)
- Receive an F in unattended class (failure to drop the course or incomplete course dropping)
- Not eligible for honours degree (due to the grade 'F' from incomplete course dropping or withdrawal)
- Not eligible for graduation (due to incomplete course adding or course registration)

ALWAYS LOG OUT WHEN YOU ARE NO LONGER USING THE REGISTRATION SYSTEM TO AVOID ANY UNAUTHORIZED USE.
